Do E-Signature with confidence Move Beyond Boundaries Get Documents Signed. Anywhere.

How to Leave A Positive Impression on Clients by Use of E-signatures?

In every organization there are umpteen processes, and most of the processes which are present require some kind of approvals. Implementing electronic signatures into your business can significantly reduce the process completion time, and also reduces cost and improves overall effectiveness and productivity.

When it comes to maintaining the confidentiality and integrity of any documents e-signatures are considered the safest. Because of this, an electronic signature has become the most preferred means of signing documents worldwide. An astonishing 30 billion paper documents are printed, signed, and copied by the United States companies each year. The cost which scanning, copying, routing, archiving, and even retrieving lost documents gave to the companies, came to an estimated $6.50.

The electronic signatures are recognized and legal in many parts of the world, they became famous when President Clinton signed the Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act (ESIGN) which made signing electronic documents as legally binding as a paper-based document.

Organization are implementing e-signatures to:

- Make every thing paperless and reduce wastage;
- Cut operational costs and focus on their core business areas;
- Improve overall efficiency, effectiveness, and collaboration.

Most countries have realized that its quite a burden to keep signing documents manually and because the electronic signatures take less time and are result oriented you can rely on them. If you want to transfer some document or sign any deal the e-signatures can help you, all you need to do is have the key, you can also safely keep a track as to where your documents are going.

The average electronic signature user signs around 2-3 documents per day or 500-600 documents say per year based as per a research held. Therefore, electronic signatures are an excellent option for minimizing losses, increasing profits, and leaving a positive impression on client all year round!
